ALS Comments (from Attached Notes)		Presence of anxiety – not medication. When these occur can become debilitating and needs to take himself away for a few minutes to help control his anger. His ability can be significantly impacted and none of his functions can ever truly be going on the outside line. He also tends to bring work home. Although in relation to ASD, his ability range appears more complex. It is noted that reading seems to be his best ability.
